

PRINCE SUN CALLS ON PRESIDENT AT FORT MYER

Following the Reception They Will See Drill At Fort Myer.

EXCHANGE OF CALLS WITH SECTY. KNOX

Party Will Be Entertained At White House Dinner Tonight.

With a bland smile on his inscrutable face, his Celestial highness, Prince Sun, stepped from the classic portals of the New Willard this morning promptly at 10:30 o'clock, bound for the State Department, to return Secretary Knox's visit of a few minutes previous.

The prince was dressed in gorgeous raiment and surrounded by his advisers and retinue. Secretary Knox, dressed in conventional morning dress, paid his respects at 10 o'clock. The Secretary was accompanied by Chandler Hale, Assistant Secretary. Mr. Knox bestowed a friendly little bow upon the prince and proceeded to engage him in conversation through an interpreter. Both expressed themselves as satisfied with each other, and when Mr. Knox left the two dignitaries were apparently on the best of terms.

President Taft received the entire party of thirteen, consisting of admirals and captains, at 12:30 o'clock at the White House. Following the reception there, the Celestials will be taken to Fort Myer to view an exhibition drill given in their honor at 3:30 o'clock.

The exhibition was open to the public. President Taft will entertain a party at dinner tonight at the White House. Prince Sun, who is the uncle of the Emperor and brother to the prince regent of China, and his party arrived in Washington last night at 8 o'clock, and were whisked in automobiles to the Willard. The royal insignia of his rank, a great, scaly looking dragon, written on yellow silk, was flung to the breeze, and today the flag attracted much attention by passersby.

They were given a suite on the second floor, one of the most magnificent in the hotel. The prince, who was indisposed last night, suffering from the effects of a severe cold, was rapidly improved this morning and disposed of a solid American breakfast, sent to his apartment under the special supervision of "Gus" Buckholz, maître de hotel, the chef, of which the prince is especially fond, were prominent on the menu.

Prince Sun is not nearly so punctilious as Prince Fushimi, the Japanese royal visitor of the early summer, although of higher rank. The Chinese gentlemen are very cordial to their visitors, but do not like to be interviewed out of curiosity alone.

The women of the party are beautiful, according to the standards of their own country, but their beauty is not of the Grecian type. They did not accompany their husbands this morning, but attended the drill this afternoon in full regalia.

Tomorrow morning the royal party will visit Annapolis and the Naval Academy. They will leave on a special car. Superintendent Bowyer will entertain them at luncheon and take them over the grounds. They will return in time to "dress" for dinner at the Chinese embassy at 8 o'clock.

The tomb of Washington will be visited Thursday morning, and the navy yard inspected in the afternoon. Lieutenant Commander L. V. Gillis has been assigned by the Navy Department to accompany the prince.

The party leaves Washington at 4 p. m. in the afternoon for New York.

OCCOQUAN PRISON PLANS CHANGED

Instead of Steel House Temporary Wooden Structure Will Be Used.

Congress may not be called upon for an appropriation for a stone and steel prison at Occoquan, Va.

The prisoners are now engaged in the erection of wooden structures which at first were thought to be only temporary, but in which they may be permanently housed. So impressed is the prison commission, consisting of Major Judson, Justice Wendell Philip Stafford, and John Joy Edison, with the open-air method of prison life, that they may decide to abandon altogether the proposition to erect stone buildings.

"Not only will a large saving be effected, but it is believed that the men will be as safely confined and certainly they will be more comfortable," said Major Judson today.

The plans of the buildings now in course of erection have been changed so as to provide for an immense amount of window space. In the summer the windows can be removed altogether, so the men will be living practically in the open air.

"The men will be housed in these buildings this winter, and if the experiment is successful the commission may recommend that they be made their permanent quarters."

If it is decided to maintain the frame structures permanently, a wall will probably be built around the camp to prevent the escape of the prisoners. The District has accepted the United States tugboat, the General Warren, from the Federal Government in payment of a debt of $2,000 for dredging machinery purchased for the use of the War Department. The General Warren will be placed in commission between Occoquan and Washington for transportation of prisoners and supplies.

BIBLE FUND RAISED; WORK SOON TO BEGIN

Distribution of $1,000,000 worth of bibles in the United States will begin soon, the fund having been raised in accordance with the provisions laid down by Mrs. Russell Sage.

This announcement is made by the Rev. A. W. Graves, who has tendered his resignation, as Washington agent of the American Bible Society, which is the organization that will distribute the bibles.

DEATH IS INVESTIGATED.

The police of the Second precinct are investigating the circumstances of the death last night of Edmond Williams, a negro thirty-five years old, who fell from the second-story of her home in 827 Marion street. When picked up she was found to have sustained a fracture of the skull, and died before she reached the hospital.

RETAIL MERCHANTS PERFECTING RULES

Organization Is Not Fully Completed At Monday's Long Meeting.

Although the hundred persons present at the meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association last night labored with the business of the evening for three hours, it was found necessary at 11 o'clock to defer the final adoption of rules and regulations and election of officers until the next meeting, which is to be called by Joseph Strasburger, president of the association in about ten days.

Meantime copies of the proposed rules are to be printed and sent to each member, so that changes or amendments may be prepared in advance. This action was decided upon at a late hour after ten sections of the new rules had been read, debated and adopted.

Tells of Richmond Plan.

William A. Clarke, Jr., secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association of Richmond and Virginia, explained to the merchants how the Richmond association had been organized, and described the reading which had since been derived by its members.

After Clarke's talk he was kept busy for half an hour answering questions asked by various merchants who wanted to know more in detail how the Richmond merchants had solved certain problems.

Mayor Paff, of Alexandria, congratulated Washington upon having waked up to a realization of the necessity for such an organization, remarking that Alexandria has had one for a year, and is now enjoying considerable benefit from it.

Commissioner Cuno H. Rudolph congratulated the organization upon the strength it had already gained and commended the objects for which it was formed.

Convention Secured. The only other speaker of the evening was William F. Gude, president of the Chamber of Commerce, who aroused enthusiasm by reading a telegram from Thomas Grant, secretary of the chamber, which he had just received from Des Moines, that Washington had won the next convention of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners on the fifth ballot with eleven cities in the race.

Granville Hunt, chairman of the conventions committee, was unable to be present, but for him the secretary presented a design for envelopes which the conventions committee asked Washington merchants to use on all their outgoing correspondence.

In the discussion of the proposed rules the only debate arose over the proposed affiliation with the Chamber of Commerce he left for future determination. This was opposed by Harry King, R. P. Andrews, A. D. Price, Joseph Jacob, M. A. Lewis and Joseph Strasburger, with the result that the section was adopted.

OVER 2,000 AUTOS RUN IN DISTRICT

Board Shows Revenue Derived From Permits and Tags Is $6,044.

The number of permits issued to operate motor vehicles in the District during the fiscal year ended June 30, was 2,352, according to the annual report of the automobile board.

These included 274 for electric type, 1,688 for gasoline type, 92 for steam type, and 232 for motorcycles.

The fees received from the enamel metal identification tags for the year amounted to $4,752. The charge in the regulations requiring the payment of a $2 fee for a permit to operate motor vehicles brought a revenue of $2,352 from tags and permits of $6,044.

There were registered 234 motor vehicles brought into the District for transient sojourn by tourists and other non-residents.

LA FOLLETTE IMPROVED.

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 27.—That Senator La Follette has indefinitely postponed his trip to Rochester, Minn., where he expected to submit to an examination and operation by the Mayo brothers, noted surgeons, was made known here today.

The Senator's health has improved and he hopes to be able to put off the operation until the elections and to take part in the Wisconsin campaign.

Battle for Life

When Despair Seemed All That was Left, He Strives and Finally Wins Health.

The experience of R. H. Lewis of 61 Second Street, Gloversville, N.Y., who was given up by his doctors to die of consumption, and whose pastor and friends had lost hope, is given for the benefit of all who are tending toward consumption.

Mr. Lewis lost 21 pounds in three months, had hemorrhages, and a consultation of physicians gave the verdict that he had consumption and one lung was nearly gone, and he returned from visits to the Adirondack and Catskill Mountains so weak that he could hardly get about. It was at this stage that he began to take Father John's Medicine, the guaranteed cure for throat and lungs. Now he is able to return to work after two years' illness and he gives all the credit to Father John's Medicine.

As a body builder Father John's Medicine has no equal. No alcohol or injurious drugs. Guaranteed.

G. A. R. VETERANS DEFEND McELROY FROM CHARGES

Residents of Colony At St. Cloud, Fla., Commend Washington Man's Work In Establishing Soldiers' Settlement—Stories Blamed for Defeat.

That the charges made against Col. John McElroy at Atlantic City did defeat him for commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., and that these charges were absolutely without foundation, is the contention of two Grand Army veterans who have lived in St. Cloud for a year with their families, and who are visiting in Washington on their way back to the Florida G. A. R. settlement.

The two veterans who purchased homes at St. Cloud, which was purchased as a place where fellow-comrades could buy homes and reside together, are John H. De Graw, commander of the post at St. Cloud, and George W. Penn.

"Colonel McElroy, despite what James Tanner says to the contrary, would have walked away with the election at Atlantic City if his enemies had not circulated those calumnies and baseless stories about his transactions in purchasing St. Cloud and turning it into a place for the old soldiers to live," said Mr. De Graw.

"It was said that the soldiers who bought homes there were given land that was under water and that they were sick of the place and of the bargain. There may be one or two grumblers out of the 3,000 or more who bought in St. Cloud. But they don't count. St. Cloud is the happiest and most contented gathering of people in the South."

"I have lived in several different States and was never better satisfied than I am now. I want to go back quick, because it's the 'homeliest' place I have struck yet."

And Mr. Penn, who has lived there since the settlement was started, a little more than a year ago, corroborated Mr. De Graw's statements as did also the wives of the two men.

"There's nothing to those stories," said Mr. Penn. "We have everything we want. A great many of the stories were sent out by real estate men of Florida who didn't like to see the Grand Army veterans' settlement grow so much faster than towns they were trying to exploit. In one instance that comes to my mind, one of the soldiers was sold a lot one of which was in a damp meadow. He objected to taking that piece of property and was immediately given deed to a lot and five-acre tract which he himself selected."

The two men say that in order to clear the cloud from the "stigma" the stories have attached to it, they will add in every way they can to have the charges against Colonel McElroy cleared up.

MUSICALES PLANNED FOR CAPITAL BLIND

Special Entertainments to Be Held At Library of Congress This Winter.

Arrangements are being made with the Public Library to hold the proposed series of readings and musicales in the lecture hall, which has a seating capacity of about 200 persons. Definite announcements will be made in about two weeks.

Investigations are being made of all complaints which give promise of establishing a case.

EIGHT-HOUR FIGHT WILL BE VIGOROUS

Central Labor Union to Investigate Condition At Occoquan.

An active and vigorous campaign against the alleged violation of the eight-hour law by officials of the District workhouse, at Occoquan, Va., will be inaugurated today by a special attorney, appointed by a committee of the Central Labor Union to investigate thoroughly the charges made against Superintendent Whitaker, of the institution, to the effect that he allows his men to work a longer period of time than the law permits.

This step was taken at a meeting of the Central Labor Union at Typographical Temple last night behind closed doors. Discussions relating to the subject were heated at times, and peace was restored only when an executive committee was appointed and authorized to employ an attorney who will sift the matter to the bottom. His report will be brought, in official form, before the central body, which will then present the case to the District Commissioners.

It has not yet been learned who the lawyer is that will be retained by the labor people, but that the eighty unions, representing over 5,000 skilled mechanics of Washington, are incensed over the alleged violation of the eight-hour law, was evident from the tenor of closed doors. Discussions relating to the subject were heated at times, and peace was restored only when an executive committee was appointed and authorized to employ an attorney who will sift the matter to the bottom. His report will be brought, in official form, before the central body, which will then present the case to the District Commissioners.

Emmett L. Adams, of the International Association of Machinists, Columbia Lodge, No. 174, and a delegate to the central body, was elected the official representative of the central body to the next annual meeting of the American Federation of Labor.

Mr. Adams is extremely popular among the laborites of the National Capital, and for that reason there were no other candidates for the honor.
